

Excellence in Review 2009

This is the third year for which we recognize excellence in review. An excellent review focuses on the technical merit of the work submitted, describes the significance of the contribution to the field of oceanic engineering, and states why the work should or should not be published.

Please join the JOURNAL's editorial board in honoring the outstanding reviewers of 2009 pictured below, and in thanking the Associate Editors and all the reviewers generously who donate their time. The quality of the JOURNAL depends on their expertise and cooperation.
